

What do you do when you do nothing? Share with us and your community what you do when you do nothing. Do you remember when you attended a gracious social entertaining event that you used to dress up for? Would you be willing to do it again? Have an opportunity to share your delight and realm of interest? Would you be willing to be part of a live audience at a major city venue? Would you share your memories of your farm home? Your city life? Your school – your occupation? Would you like to be a celebrity for a day? Meet people who relate to you, your memories, your values? Would you be willing to accept a major prize just for being in the studio audience? This is not a competition or a talent contest – its intent is socializing!
